What is the Athol Forestry Cooperative?

Athol Forestry Cooperative (Athol) is a cooperative of private woodlot owners. We have a team of dedicated forestry professionals who work on behalf of the owners to manage and protect the many values of woodlots in northwestern Nova Scotia. Athol was incorporated in 1977 with 10 landowner members holding 5,450 acres of land. Today, Athol has grown to over 250 members with over 43,000 acres under management.

What does Athol do?

Athol provides a wide array of services for our woodlot owners and members, such as:

- ❑ Forest Management planning, including silviculture and harvesting
- ❑ Financial packages for site preparation, thinnings, plantings, shelterwood, etc.
- ❑ Project management activities such as contract services, road location and construction, supervision of work
- ❑ Marketing activities including completing woodlot assessments, assessing timber values, scaling of forestry products and buying and selling wood
- ❑ Global positioning services (GPS), including aerial photography and mapping, boundary identification and mapping (blueberry fields, farming, forestry, etc.)
- ❑ Athol has a retail store where you can purchase materials required to own and/or manage your woodlot. Some products we carry are: Helly Hansen work wear and rainwear, ATV Suits, safety equipment (hard hats, glasses, vests); Chainsaw pants, chaps, boots and accessories; flagging tape and flagging stakes; compasses, clinometers, binoculars, etc.

Purpose of the Athol Scholarship
